

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

This year, January 10th, is when I was able to get a cell phone for the first time in my life. They've always been too expensive for me to afford. It is not fair to have to pay the same rates as big organizations (high volume users). Please don't force me to give up the only cell phone I was ever able to afford. I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund.

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and convenience. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincerely,

Martin Brule Jr.
